Destination information

Valencia is considered one of the most important cities in Spain. It is located by the Mediterranean Sea and because of that it enjoys mild winters and dry summers.

The city provides a wide cultural offer and the important international exhibitions held there confirm Valencia as one of the most dynamic cities in Spain. Lots of local festivals and fairs are also celebrated in the city and the surrounding towns and villages. Valencia is also the birthplace of paella, the most representative dish of Spanish cuisine.

The city is famous worldwide due to the Fallas —an amazing festival of fire and light during which the streets are crowded and bustling. The Fallas represent a combination of tradition, satire and art. Worth mentioning is also the City of Arts and Sciences where learning meets fun. There can be also found the Oceanogràfic, the Hemisfèric and the Museu de les Ciències.
